ADVERTISEMENTS, $1.00 PER LINE PER ANNUM.

HOME AGAIN!

Our return to Philadelphia has been marked by the most gratifying results, and we feel indeed thankful for the warm reception met with at the hands of our former friends and patrons. But that is not all; for above and beyond the happiness we feel to meet friends who for twenty-five years have clung to us as patrons, unwavering in their friendship, we rejoice at the reunion of those from whom we have been separated for seven long years.

Again we unfurl our numismatic banner to the breeze, near our old stand, directly opposite the United States Mint. We cordially invite relatives, friends, and Mint visitors to give us a call. No stairs to climb; capacious room to sit in and rest or read the numismatic exchanges; or, better yet, examine and purchase rare coins, etc. All are welcome.

Time brings many changes—new scenes, new incidents, new customers, open before us; and as we look back and call up old faces, old scenes, old incidents, and old patrons, joy and sorrow occupy our thoughts; joy that so many of our friends and patrons are enjoying health and prosperity: sorrow to think of those who have passed over to another life and an eternal home.

Nevil, Davis, Howard, and Wells, four well-known and respected numismatists, are recent instances of the great loss that the fraternity, as well as the public, have met with during our absence from this city. How poignant must be the grief of the close relatives of four such intelligent and home-loving citizens! Their grief is greater than ours. Let us hope that death will not again invade our circle for many years to come, as the writer knows full well its meaning, having lost a loved son last year, and one whose talents gave great promise of the future. Let us look forward and upward, and bear the ills of life with composure as best we can.

PERSONAL REMINISCENCES OF NOTED NUMISMATISTS.

BY E. LOCKE MASON.

No. 3.

Dr. M. W. Dickeson.

Our first acquaintance with the late Montroville W. Dickeson, M. D., was at the coin store (owned by his family), No. 451 North Second street, this city, where we first commenced the coin business (1860). The doctor was a man of many parts—a graduate of the Pennsylvania Medical University, and took part, as a surgeon, in the Mexican War. He commenced collecting coins when a boy, and soon branched off into geology, mineralogy, conchology, and various other ologies—having a wonderful penchant for scientific investigation. Dr. Dickeson had occupied several important positions—State Geologist for Tennessee being among the number. Yet, with all his indefatigable scientific labors and the systematic arrangement of his "hobbies," he was not a popular man; and this on account of his imperative, crusty, and sensitive disposition. Although affable and kindly at times, he was quick to anger, and made more enemies than friends.

It was as a numismatist and author of coin publications that he was best known among the fraternity, having written and published the first work of note in America concerning U. S. and Anglo-American coins, medals, etc, entitled "Dickeson's Numismatic Manual," the price being ten dollars, and the work itself an exhaustive one, fully illustrated in colors.

The doctor was an early contributor to MASON'S COIN COLLECTORS' MAGAZINE (1867), and produced many original ideas concerning the Mound Builders in America, and was instrumental in having opened many prominent Indian mounds in the Middle and Western States. At his death (aged 70), a few years since, the doctor left a large collection of coins, medals, and Indian relics, he having been one of the earliest collectors and one of the most persistent in this State.

CHATS WITH OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

Send us a letter, coin collectors, please,
From the "States," or o'er the briny seas;
Something new—nu-mismatic—say,
And we'll embalm it for a future day.

BIRMINGHAM, ENGLAND, 1890.

MY DEAR SIRS:—It was a series of misfortunes in 1886; terribly trying! Of course it is easy to moralize about others' misfortunes, but, when the bite comes to oneself, it needs philosophy—and true philosophy is religion.

For nearly thirty years I have had no need to grumble at anything—out of business; no anxieties—more than I deserve in the outward, by a vast deal; so have had time to go all over the world observing and, thank God, FEELING for mankind. The result of twenty-five years is simple amazement. Whatever other worlds or scenes we may meet with, "when we have shuffled off this mortal coil," I think we may boldly say that we shall never see such a world as this again. Never! It is not the never-ending failures, misfortunes, losses, we hear of all around us; it is the discouragement and utter uselessness of great worldly success. Now I have you with me in this. You have your "plums" in life; so have I. Did they ever satisfy us? Did not that success only make us the more eager—the more hungry—after yet more? Every candid man must admit this. Once allow it, and our case is (as far as this world's life goes) hopeless! Nothing —not Astor's nor Vanderbilt's two hundred millions—will do it. This is how philosophy comes in.

Look at poor Mr. Woodward, once a wealthy man. Doubtless he could have capitalized safely some twenty thousand pounds and retired. But, my dear man, you and I know (I am 52) that it is only deferring the inevitable! Go—everything we have will; health, property, time, life itself! Thus true philosophy—religion—alone is really worth a button in the end! Thus the life of your splendid Peabody, the grand Jew, Moses Montifiore, and the real lovers of mankind and God, are to be followed in our little, humble way. They are the only happy, really rich, and successful men who find their pleasure in doing good! Apart from religion, I give the world up! Can't see anything in it!

I really think, as I saw the 1876 Philadelphia Exhibition, I must see the 1892 Chicago one. It will be a "scorcher" if it beats Paris.

As to my coins (U. S.), you must know that I have yet some of the very finest. I send you an idea of these. Please return the little book. It is numbered in pages (13). Please refer to the page the coin is on if you have any remark and price or offer to make when you return the book.

I do not consider that your U. S. coins are appreciated at present at anything like their really future value, when very fine. The prices your U. S. collectors give are perfectly ridiculous to the grand sums given for our rare English coins. Indeed, one of our rarities, of which there are at least thirteen known, brought £500 at Bieber's sale alone!—as much as an entire U. S. collection of coins at a day's sale! You must educate, and get them to see things differently. I can keep my remaining "plums" now for five years with advantage.

Very truly yours,

E. SHORTHOUSE.

[REPLY.—You are a philosopher in the true sense, and your coins are gems if the little book of rubbings sent us is a correct guide to condition and rarity; but, my dear sir, your prices are fabulous, and we must wait another decade to meet them.—EDITOR.]

MANCHESTER BY THE SEA, MASS., June 27, 1890.

GENTS:—I see that you have published the "New series of Mason's Coin Collector's Magazine, No. 1." Enclosed find $1.00 for the same.

Yours,

JOHN PRICE.

NUMISMATIC ODDITIES.

COLLATED BY E. L. M.

If peculiar coinage you should chance to see,
Novel "over-strikes," or other odd mis-cues,
Or those over which collectors disagree,
Send us the facts and below we'll print the news.

THE INDENTED EDGE 1797 CENT.

A collector in San Francisco has forwarded a very fine 1797 U. S. cent, with indented edge, and wishes to dispose of it, unless he can learn its true history. We would be pleased to have an article from any of the experts in the U. S. Mint or elsewhere, concerning the origin of the Indented Edge 1797 Cent. That it was a Mint issue, with its peculiar irregular reeded edge, we have no doubt, and it may be true that owing to the planchets moving or jumping during coinage that clamps with teeth were used to hold the planchets in position. Who knows? THE EDITOR.

WANDERINGS OF A NUMISMATIST AT HOME AND ABROAD.

BY E. LOCKE MASON.

Where'er we go for numismatic news,
Abroad, or thro' our "Uncle Sam's" domain,
Gathering coins from Christians, or from Jews,
We'll here describe them for our reader's gain.
Mayhap we'll interlard the "coin talk" well
With gibes and jokes, and many a story tell.

A band of German musicians were wandering around the streets of Glasgow, making hideous noises in front of beer saloons, etc., and the five brass instruments made such discordant sounds that we were glad to discover the new treatment to dispel the horn and band nuisances that are so plentifully distributed in the streets of England and Scotland. The new treatment, or "BAND AND HORN BOUNCER," consisted simply of lemons. While we were watching one of these uniformed bands in full wind, located in front of a bar-room, near the Brinelow Bridge, where the dirty Clyde sweeps onward to the sea, a bar-keeper gathered half a dozen urchins, ranged them in a row opposite the band on the curbstone, then gave each one a half a lemon, having instructed them previously to chew, squeeze, suck, and jam the lemons; look sour, squint, make horrible faces, and stare relentlessly into the faces of the German musicians.

It is said to be a fact, that no man can tongue a brass instrument, or play continuously, in presence of a person eating a lemon. Sympathy causes the player's mouth to "water," the instrument becomes clogged with the liquid which oozes from the mouth, and the artist stops there and then. Thus, the operation of half a dozen urchins eating lemons and making outlandish grimaces, caused the "Little German Band" to dissolve and leave the latitude for more congenial quarters.

After witnessing this amusing episode, we continued our hunt for numismatic treasures, looking chiefly among the pawnbrokers for curios and coins. At one shop in the vicinity of the docks, we purchased a fine 1836 dollar for six and sixpence; also, bagged a lot of uncirculated cents in the higher dates. After purchasing a few old books, maps, and queer antique watch keys, we ventured up along Argyle Street, where we "Struck it rich," as the miners say.

INGENIOUS, BUT OLD.

An ingenious numismatist has devised a novel method of exhibiting coins, which is now used in English museums. The pulling of a lever rotates a frame containing cards in which the coins are inserted—in such a manner that the obverse and reverse, with a full description of each coin, are shown at the will of the observer.—Boston Globe.

The late Lyman Wilder, of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., had a similar contrivance as far back as 1870, and exhibited his splendid collection of coins by moving a lever that rotated shelves, presenting coins, minerals, etc., for examination—obverse and reverse of coins shown.

COIN EXCHANGE DEPARTMENT.

[Any article of merchandise can be exchanged through this office by the payment of 1c. per word for each exchange inserted. Each advertiser will be given a number.—ED.]

Come, let us swap in true Yankee style,
Anything not wanted—it matters not
Whether a house, book, coat, coin or "tile,"
We may get something we have not got.

We have a magnificent carved French black walnut cabinet—which cost, in France, about $250—for exchange. This elaborate cabinet has nearly one hundred coin drawers lined with velvet, twenty-four pigeon holes and large drawers, and all the appliances and conveniences of a desk; heavy silver hinges on the doors opening outward, making cabinet 8 feet wide when closed and 6 feet high; its form is semi-circular front and much like a wardrobe back, carved with female busts, and panelled with the most beautiful curly walnut woods, secret locks and hidden springs. Weighs about 300 lbs.; good as new; can be seen in our office. Price, $100, cash or coins.
